About the Artist

Theresa Rykaczewski is an American painter and non-profit gallery director in Atlantic Beach, Florida at Word Revolt Art Gallery. Celebrated for her open impressionistic style of bold impasto landscapes, Theresa's artwork transfixes the viewer through a dynamic sense of color and atmosphere.

An alumna of Jacksonville University, graduating as a member of Phi Kappa Phi Honors Society with an MFA in painting and drawing in 2020, Theresa is proud to serve as a Professor of Art, teaching community based and professional skills workshops, university, and museum lectures. She specializes in traditional oil painting, impasto techniques, impressionist landscape and figurative work.

Theresa has been featured in over 50 exhibitions & curated over 50 exhibitions, in the US and internationally, extensively sold in high profile private and corporate collections. As a professional artist, Theresa has a passion contemporary art, history and multiple award winning dedication to cultivating a vibrant arts community.

Vibrant Water Garden Collection

In this next generation series of ultra bright paintings sourced from live koi, including those found in subtropical water gardens, inspiration is lifted from a luminescent palette that depicts swimming fish, that take a magical adventure through blossoming lily ponds, while whispering about the tranquil beauty of nature.

This collection of impressionist style oil paintings features bold and true colors with optical blending of lush foliage over clear water, illuminated by a rainbow of gestural strokes to capture the glow of the sun through leaves during the magical golden hour of the day.

Both playful & technical, watercolor and pencil artwork delights in the nuances from each type of koi and goldfish variety, punctuated with the occasional lotus blossom.
